P. 6 In the days of the long ago, as the bugle call or taps was the signal for rest and sleep from the dangers and fatigues of the daily soldier life so now as its echoes faintly die away it is a fitting tribute to our deceased Comrade. His light is out, his spirit has silently vanished, and winged its happy flight to the haven of rest where to pass in last review before our Supreme Commander on the Great Eternal Camping Ground.

of the 1st Corps, marched to Palmyra, Tenn. arriving there the 1st of June, and marched to Columbus & Knoxville and was in the battle there, Dec 19th last to Nashville, and remained on duty till the battle of Nashville, Dec 31st 1864.
The regiment engaged both days in the battle, followed North during all of November the Tennessee river, then marched to Knoxville, to Strawberry Plains and Middleburg, April 20th 1865. On an 8 day march expedition to North Carolina, retrograde came back to Nashville, arriving April 22nd and remained there until June 27th, after which it was operated out of service and the same day started for Washington. The 2nd of June reported had 792 men, and when marched out had 200 men and 27 officers, lost 20 men and officers killed and died of wounds and 187 of disease, accidents and privation.

George Thomas was with the regiment in regard to what of service he was rendered but none, but it was not small in what battle. When he was returning to his regiment after his discharge for his wound, he with three going to the front, was taken as guard to a wagon train and afterwards near Paducah, Kentucky came down on them and after a sharp battle, fought captured both the train and the wagon. It after told me of his capturing while with Shelby. He also recounted the man, on the captured wagon had been, and Thomas's wound was a heavy one, Shelby left them on the spot for about a day, Thomas was allowed four days to return, after getting away again, Shelby favored them and turned them loose, if he did remember how he got back to me, he is after that was exchanged and was again on his way to the front and again with a wagon train, after going on there a second time, this time they had a little success and the officer of command had some still in his hands, there was a marriage place in the road ahead, was a carriage, the officer placed his men on both sides of the road when the officers came riding into the wagon train, they turned loose on them, and had them, some back on great order, they came on again and had it, some sort of a negotiation and with the same result.
They then dismounted and stood out so as to make two lines, Thomas did they saw some that they was in place for them as after going them a mile, the soldiers and went to dig who would run the post, he said he for his part did not want any more combat experience, so he went back good time and was some led in the woods.

When we arrived the wagon and soon left the boys were found lying dead. They were some the Rebels had left and were trying to do something from the escaped wagons, others a lot of boys were lying up and killed them and their equipment. General Thomas told me of an army of boys of his army, but I have forgotten most of them.
I first knew them when they came to Camp Point in the late day, after his discharge he had taught school and earned enough to put food there for his family. He that he knew the study of law was under his feet. He had also taught here in the school to get enough money to have his first law law studies. He was disappointed in his practice of law and was as good a soldier as he was a soldier.

Months after its bridge started home over the same route they had fought on

Cap. Lawan & Co. September was about the saddest of their experiences.

The strength of General left behind and that soon they would separate perhaps for ever thought somewhat.

After arriving at Nashville they turned over their horses and equipments and were transported out gone 24th 1865.

On the 27th released by terms of exchange
